Global Partners Program

Volunteer to share your weather, water, and climate expertise worldwide!

The AMS Global Partners Program connects you with international professionals in academia, government, and nonprofit organizations who need your help.

AMS member-volunteers establish productive partnerships and promote the impact of atmospheric and hydrologic sciences everywhere.

As a volunteer, you might:

- Develop new academic programs and curricula
- Mentor students and young professionals
- Be a guest lecturer or visiting scholar
- Collaborate on research or model development
- Prepare policy
- Provide engineering support

And much more!
